JEALOUSY GIVEN CAUSE OF MURDER

Jealousy is now believed the motive that prompted Ishiki, to empty the contents of two revolvers into a young Japanese woman named Tura Nishikawa, with fatal results, firing two shots into her companion Y. Matsufuji, who is now an inmate of Queen's Hospital with a possible chance of living and then turning one weapon upon himself death resulting instantly.

The tragedy that took place on the mountain side overlooking the little settlement of Heela, and sent two to their death, and another dangerously near the portal, is a matter that is occupying the attention of Sheriff Jarrett, and a posse of officers today, who hastened to the windward side of the island at an early hour this morning, there to conduct an examination of a half dozen witnesses of the affair.

All parties who figured in the murder, suicide and deliberate shooting hail from Heela.

From what threads gathered by police officers now out on the case it appears that Matsufuji, the girl Tura Nishikawa, barely out of her teens, together with five of six Japanese boys started away from Heela yesterday morning with the intention of gathering mountain apples on the nearby slopes of the Koolau range. The Green-Eyed Monster Appears.

The young girl, rather prepossessing and said to be a recent arrival at Heela, was asked by Matsufuji to accompany the party who is credited with having arranged some of the details of the expedition.

All went well until later in the morning when the tramps had ascended the mountain to quite a distance, they suddenly came upon Ishiki, who from existing accounts of the affair, was found arrayed in black and sitting down under the shelter of a low tree or bush. Upon hearing the approach of the Japanese, he was seen to arise, and brought forth two revolvers, which he pointed at the man and the woman.

The first shot evidently went wide of its mark, but nevertheless served to scare one or more of the younger members of the party, who last night when interrogated by the officers, declared that they had run from the man with the gun.

Saw Murder And Suicide.

One boy remained, and he concealed himself in some bushes. He tells a story to the effect that he saw Ishiki, pull the triggers of both guns as the party came up the trail. The shots were fired without a word of warning. The first to fall under the leaden hail was Matsufuji, who received one bullet in the right side of the jaw with the result that practically all the teeth in that portion of his mouth have been torn away. The man, now at the hospital and whose life is hanging by a thread, is unable to discuss the matter with the officers, or shed any light on the possible motive for the commitment of the deed.

The thoroughly crazed Ishiki then turned to the girl who appeared too fazed at what was happening to seek an immediate retreat. Two shots entered her body and she was dropped in her tracks.

It was at this juncture, that the murderous Japanese stepped to the spot where the young woman lay, and satisfying himself that she was dead, then turned one weapon upon himself and fired shots, two of which entered his breast and abdomen, causing instant death.

Sheriff Jarrett, was in consultation with Deputy Sheriff Davis of Koolau-poko this morning and from what can be learned the young woman was unmarried. She is believed to have been friendly to Matsufuji which is said to have caused intense jealousy to spring up in the breast of the man who finally took his own life after wreaking his vengeance upon the objects of his hatred.

Sheriff Jarrett found that in all, nine shots had been fired from the two guns before the murdered's hand was stillied by death. The guns which caused the death of the two Japanese were recovered today by the officers.

There is a possibility that an ante-mortem statement will be secured from Matsufuji, now at the hospital which is expected will add much light upon the tragedy and the events that led up to the crime.

Dr. W. L. Moore city and county physician who was returning from a visit to the hills, came upon the party very soon after the shooting. He caught a photograph of the scene. His examination made of the Japanese readily convinced him that two at least were past all medical aid. Dr. Moore however rendered first aid treatment to the injured Matsufuji and in his machine the Japanese was brought to Honolulu and placed in the hospital for treatment.

The statement was made yesterday by one Japanese who had visited the hospital that Ishiki, the suicide had attempted to pay marked attention to the dead woman covering a period of several months. That his suit was not favorably received is believed, as the woman is said to have left Honolulu where she resided for some time for the other side of the island.

The story was also current that Ishiki and the injured man now at the hospital had indulged in some heated words over the affair of the heart.

When Ishiki was found he still held tightly clutched in his right hand the revolver that brought his own destruction. The dead man was arrayed in dark clothes and wore a Panama hat.

When Dr. Moore came upon the participants in the crime he found Matsufuji and the woman lying side by side, barely three feet separating them.

HOLMES SPENDS BUSY SUNDAY

Harry N. Holmes, advance man for the Smith-Robins Men and Religion tour, spent a busy day yesterday during which time he delivered six addresses. This forceful speaker's talks have a special appeal to men and the fact that he has been chosen to go in advance of this great movement is a guarantee that he is a man of ability and a leader.

In the morning he spoke before the Sunday school and also the regular service at Central Union Church, and before the Men's Class of the Methodist Church. In the afternoon he spoke at the Y. M. C. A. before a large gathering, on the subject "Men, Religion, and the Nation", and in the evening addressed the Christian Young People's Society of the Methodist Church and also at the regular service.

The subject of his talk at Central Union Church in the morning was "A Great Men and Religion Movement for Men". Perhaps the most interesting part of this talk was the story of the conversion of Raymond Robins on the snow fields of Alaska when, with another man, he stumbled upon the cabin of a priest who attended him with great kindness for several days. This kindness behind which Robins saw a bigger life and a greater conviction, turned his face for the first time to God. Going out into the snow again, over a portage two hundred miles long which led over a mountain ridge, Robins and his companion resumed their journey, a trip of seven days, but which they did not complete until the thirteenth. At the close of the twelfth day their strength was gone and their provisions exhausted and they crept into their sleeping-bags never expecting to reach camp again.

As Robins lay there a great rebellion came into his mind against the fate of death in that loneliness. He crawled from his sleeping-bag and out into the white fields in great bitterness of heart. He saw nothing but the still skies above him with the mocking lights of the North flashing across them. Suddenly he stopped. Something had caught his eye. It was a cross on a shoulder of the mountain erected over the grave of an Indian trapper. He folded his arms and looked at it and then said: "I do not know the meaning of that cross, but if I ever get out of this I will find out, and if I do, I will follow it to the end of the world."

He got out, found the meaning and followed it and for fourteen years he has lived in a tenement in Chicago, working for the uplift of his fellow-men. For this he receives no salary, and he is the man who will come to Honolulu with a great social service message.

During his talk, Mr. Holmes also traced the origin of the movement, the

THEATRES MAKE CHANGES IN BILL

Several new acts and features will "take the boards" at the vaudeville houses tonight, at the Liberty Theatre no less a performance than Eleanor Levan the famous character artist being billed to make her first local appearance, while another new face will be Edwin R. Lang, monologist, who came to the Liberty direct from a successful tour of the Sullivan and Consolidated houses of the mainland. Both of these new acts are claimed by the management as the best in their respective lines seen here, and these, with Leon Morris' trained ponies and John Hodge, and the singing of the La Boheme Trio make up a vaudeville program of more than ordinary class.

The usual change of pictures will add to the interest of the bill.

At the Empire Theatre a rather unusual offering for a vaudeville theatre will be the lecture, in conjunction with the regular program of pictures, of Mr. George Samuels, although well known on the mainland as a lecturer has never before been heard in this city. Mr. Samuels' opening topic will be "The White Slave Traffic," and, although rather a daring subject, he handles it in such a manner as will not offend the most sensitive, and according to the mainland press clippings the lecture is full of startling facts and of great interest.

Mr. Samuels will begin his local season with this afternoon's matinee.
